

Your editor says she likes your story. Can you add another paragraph though?
In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant
In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant
Your file where you are typing may need to be closed or refreshed at this point.
In your text file, start typing your changes described on the back of here.

Your editor says she likes your story. Can you add another paragraph though?
In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant
In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant
Your file where you are typing may need to be closed or refreshed at this point.
In your text file, start typing your changes described on the back of here.

Your editor says she likes your story. Can you add another paragraph though?
In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant
In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant
Your file where you are typing may need to be closed or refreshed at this point.
In your text file, start typing your changes described on the back of here.

Your editor says she likes your story. Can you add another paragraph though?
In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant
In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant
Your file where you are typing may need to be closed or refreshed at this point.
In your text file, start typing your changes described on the back of here.

Your editor says she likes your story. Can you add another paragraph though?
In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant
In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant
Your file where you are typing may need to be closed or refreshed at this point.
In your text file, start typing your changes described on the back of here.

Your editor says she likes your story. Can you add another paragraph though?
In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant
In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant
Your file where you are typing may need to be closed or refreshed at this point.
In your text file, start typing your changes described on the back of here.

Your editor says she likes your story. Can you add another paragraph though?
In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant
In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant
Your file where you are typing may need to be closed or refreshed at this point.
In your text file, start typing your changes described on the back of here.

Add a specific conversation of dialog where one or more of the characters is speaking in jargon specific to a hobby or activity you are familiar with.

Add an encounter with a random member of the animal kingdom..

Add a love interest to the story.

Have something happen that causes one of the characters to cry.

Describe how the main character's parents met.

Have the main character apply-for but ultimately be-rejected-for a job.

Add a gentle action incident with some G-rated physical confrontation, suitable for a very young audience.

Your editor says your book is selling like hotcakes. He thinks it would also sell well in an alternate version as described below.

In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant

In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant

Throughout the story, rewrite it a bit, according to the suggestion on the back of this slip.

Your editor says your book is selling like hotcakes. He thinks it would also sell well in an alternate version as described below.

In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant

In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant

Throughout the story, rewrite it a bit, according to the suggestion on the back of this slip.

Your editor says your book is selling like hotcakes. He thinks it would also sell well in an alternate version as described below.

In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant

In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant

Throughout the story, rewrite it a bit, according to the suggestion on the back of this slip.

Your editor says your book is selling like hotcakes. He thinks it would also sell well in an alternate version as described below.

In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant

In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant

Throughout the story, rewrite it a bit, according to the suggestion on the back of this slip.

Your editor says your book is selling like hotcakes. He thinks it would also sell well in an alternate version as described below.

In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant

In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant

Throughout the story, rewrite it a bit, according to the suggestion on the back of this slip.

Your editor says your book is selling like hotcakes. He thinks it would also sell well in an alternate version as described below.

In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant

In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant

Throughout the story, rewrite it a bit, according to the suggestion on the back of this slip.

Your editor says your book is selling like hotcakes. He thinks it would also sell well in an alternate version as described below.

In the terminal , make a branch: git init nameofyourchangeyouwant

In the terminal , go to that branch: git checkout nameofyourchangeyouwant

Throughout the story, rewrite it a bit, according to the suggestion on the back of this slip.

We're being paid to add product placement. We've received ad money from: a restaurant where someone you know works.

We're being paid to add product placement. We've received ad money from: Pepsi

We're being paid to add product placement. We've received ad money from: the anti-smoking council of the American Cancer Society,

Throughout the existing story, add more adjectives.

Throughout the existing story, add appearances by a teacher from the 2nd Floor of East High School..

We want to sell this story in Central America (or Europe, or Asia, your choice).
Throughout the existing story, add specific, realistically described locations, foods, slang, weather...

The editor likes everything except the ending. Make it better.